Do you think your favourite fan fiction should be rated? Or maybe you want an opinion on your own works. This part is dedicated to helping you with that.

I cannot read every single fanfiction or there, and I may miss some that have pure value. If you want me to review/rate a Warrior Cats fanfiction, please PM me this form or comment below.

Please note that I will not accept books that either have less than 10 chapters, or are not finished. I will also not accept any troll fics. The writer must also be on wattpad Rainfrost is the average clan cat. Except for the fact that she's been abused since kit-hood. Her clanmates hate her and abuse her. Why do they do this? Because she's different. She has abnormally colored eyes and her eyes can do abnormal things. With each step she takes, she can either create life or make an icy trail, if she chooses.

When a mysterious cat shows up and declares he is from past the mountains, and is here to collect a cat from the clan as a peace treaty, Rainfrost is chosen to be sent away forever as the chosen cat. Rainfrost sets out to fulfill a prophecy, spoken many moons ago unknown to either cat, with this mysterious stranger. Will Rainfrost ever gain the things she most wants? "We cannot change our destiny. We just have to have the courage to know what it is, and accept it..." - Cinderpelt, Twilight Foxclan has returned to their home with fellow clans, although they find one - Mossclan - to be missing. The power-gifted cats settle in the open territory before Sandclan and Kindleclan start warring for it. With rivalries low and their past feuds with Kindleclan settled, Foxclan finally have time to relax without any enemies.

Two new additions to the clan, Lilykit and Rosekit, are born to Angelflame, daughter of the former leader, and Thistlestorm, the current deputy. Their bloodline grants them the power of the phoenix, using their powers together to control their flames. Both begin to question the loyalty of the other, to the other sister and the rest of the clan, as more of their choices unfold their destinies and a certain cat begins to tear their sisterly bond apart...

Diagnosed with autism at a young age, Duskelle Waterlee has always been special - but not necessarily in a good way. Even at the age of fourteen, she is still unable to truly grasp human ways of life.

Her only relief is River, a stray that resides on her family's property. River is the only one that she can understand, the only one that cares about her, the only friend that Duskelle has.

River isn't human.

She's a cat.

And when River abruptly disappears, Duskelle ventures into the woods for the first time. There, she finds four Clans of cats, with an entire world that is different in ways she never could've imagined.

But what's most amazing to her is the fact that she understands. She understands their words. Their ways. Their lives. And when they tentatively accept her, she realizes that she might just belong, with the Clans and the cats and their cultures.

But will she ever truly fit into a world that she wasn't born into?
